

During its 45 years of business, Biokinetics is proud have helped improve the lives and safety of the military, sports professionals, first responders and the public by providing more realistic and comprehensive injury assessment approaches, better protective equipment design, offering expert advise and developing novel test tools to reflect the needs of today and tomorrow.

